Digital accessibility has become a pressing topic for virtually every business, with the focus on disability inclusion and catering to the needs of adults with disabilities now greater than ever before. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), over 2 billion people live with a disability, 20% of whom live with great functional difficulties in their day-to-day lives.

- 90% of websites are inaccessible to people with disabilities who rely on assistive technology (AbilityNet).
- 98.1% of home pages had detectable WCAG 2 failures (WebAIM)
- Based on a study of 1M websites by AIM, low contrast is the most common reason (86.3%) for WCAG2 failures (WebAIM)

The internet is a part of our lives.

We get news from the internet, communicate with friends on the internet, shop, and even make payments online. Unfortunately, the majority of global internet resources, more than 96%, are not suitable for disabled users, and 20% of global internet users are disabled. Our goal as Corpowid is to make internet resources accessible by providing equal rights to disabled users. In other words, making the internet accessible to everyone.

Digital accessibility is a right for all users

Everyone should be able to benefit equally from your internet resources, regardless of their health condition.
